COUNCILLOR CLEARED OF 'SLUR' ALLEGATIONS

A SENIOR councillor has successfully defended allegations that he made reference to a murdered child to a member of the United Church of the Kingdom of God in the aftermath of a planning meeting.

Councillor Matt Davis had denied the accusation that he whispered 'Victoria Climbié' in the ear of Victor Akutu, a high profile member of the church, following a planning meeting into the future of the EMD Cinema, in Walthamstow, on September 4 2012.

The church operates all over east London.

A letter from Mr Akutu alleged the councillor - who is also the manager of singer Bonnie Tyler - was biased against the church.

However, the hearing of the council's determination sub-committee dismissed the complaints and agreed the council's code of conduct had not been breached.

He said: "The evidence had no credibility. I am relieved and bemused how the church has conducted itself.

"The claims were a nonsense. I did not doubt the committee's verdict.

"As far as I am aware this is the first time the council's standards committee has cleared someone of all allegations."

Mr Akutu made a complaint to the council alleging that Mr Davis said the girl's name during a heated conversation.

The church had bid to open a church-cinema at the former EMD building in Hoe Street, Walthamstow. The committee unanimously refused permission.

Eight-year-old Victoria Climbié died at the hands of her great-aunt Marie-Therese Kouao and partner Carl Manning on February 25, 2000 with 128 separate injuries to her body.

In the weeks leading up to and the day before her death, the youngster and her great aunt visited a pastor representing the United Church of the Kingdom of God at the Seven Sisters Road.

The Determination Hearing will investigate whether Mr Davis did say, "Victoria Climbié" to Victor Akutu after the church goer questioned Mr Davis' opposition to the planning application.

The hearing will also look into comments made on the record by Mr Davis during the planning meeting.

NOT IN BREACH: Matt Davis.

Pet Vaccinations - the why, what and how often explained

THE diseases Vets vaccinate pets against are generally very difficult, if not impossible, to treat successfully if contracted.

But how easy is it for our furry family members to contract one of these diseases? You might think they'd have to come into contact with an already sick animal, and like me, you'd be wrong.

Whilst an unvaccinated animal can spread infection directly to another it is unlikely that as an owner you would allow your healthy pet to have contact with such an infected animal.

It is therefore far more likely for pets to contract these diseases indirectly from the environments they frequent, or from carrier species.

For example: Contact with standing water contaminated with rat urine can be enough to transmit Leptospirosis (Weil's disease) or Distemper to dogs. Parvovirus can remain on pavements for as long as two years come rain, shine or snow. Viral Haemorrhagic Disease (VHD) can be transmitted to rabbits from contaminated bedding or food, and Myxomatosis via biting insects.

Vaccinating against diseases are therefore the best way to protect pets from these horrible diseases. So that was the why, below is the what and how often:

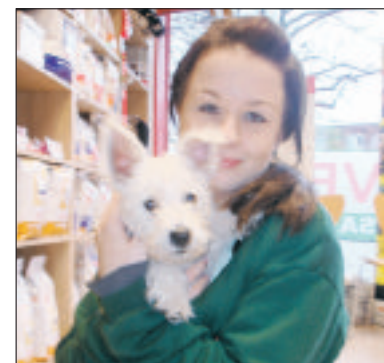

What diseases do Vets currently routinely vaccinate dogs against?

- Adenovirus
- Distemper
- Infectious Canine Hepatitis
- Parvovirus
- Parainfluenza
- Leptospirosis

The above can all be vaccinated against in one go, after an initial two injection course this vaccination must then be topped up by a booster injection every year to provide adequate levels of the vaccine to fight against infection.

...What about cats?

- Cat Flu
- Feline Panleukopaenia (Feline Enteritis)

■ Feline Leukaemia Virus

Cat Flu and Enteritis can be vaccinated against in one injection, whilst Leukaemia vaccinations are done in addition to this but can be done at the same time.

After an initial two-injection course both vaccinations require booster injections every year just like vaccinated dogs do.

...And rabbits?

■ Myxomatosis

■ Viral Haemorrhagic Disease (VHD)

Nowadays these are administered together in one injection and which needs to be repeated annually.

Are there any non routine disease to consider vaccinating against?

■ Kennel Cough is usually only vaccinated against if dogs are being kennelled or deemed at a high risk

■ Both cats and dogs are required to be vaccinated against Rabies if going abroad under DEFRA's Pet Travel Scheme. Beware, animals without all the right paperwork won't be allowed back into the UK without six months quarantine!

To get your pet vaccinated or for more information and advice, please call your local Vet.

Taxi driver jailed for 12 years over lover's death

A MAN has been brought to justice and jailed for 12 years after his lover disappeared and was never seen again more than 17 years ago.

Cab driver Kevin Doherty, 57, of Cherry Tree Rise, Buckhurst Hill, was found guilty at the Old Bailey on Tuesday of the manslaughter of Jane Harrison after she disappeared in 1995 aged 32.

Jane, who had a one-year-old son with Doherty and another 14-year-old son from a previous relationship, disappeared on June 15 1995. The last confirmed sighting of her was at around 5pm in the Wood Green Shopping City precinct, where she was seen with Doherty.

Jane, of Poets Road, Highbury, was never seen again. Extensive enquiries were carried out including a reconstruction of her last movements.

On the fourth anniversary of her disappearance, police offered a £10,000 reward for information leading to her whereabouts, either dead or alive, but no sightings were reported.

In March 2010 the investigation was looked at again in depth by the Met's Murder Review Group.

Potential new lines of enquiry were identified and the case referred to the Homicide and Serious

JAILED: Kevin Doherty was found guilty of the manslaughter of Jane Harrison.

Crime Command to look at further in August 2010.

Doherty, who is married with a family, was arrested on Tuesday, May 29 2012 and subsequently charged.

As the last person to see Jane alive, he had initially been treated as a witness when she first disappeared.

As the investigation progressed he was arrested on suspicion of abduction in July 1995. However, there was not enough evidence at that stage to charge him and the enquiry ground to a halt.

But when detectives looked afresh at the case in 2010 and carried out mobile phone analysis, they found Doherty's accounts and alibi did not stack up.

He claimed he had spoken to Jane a number of times after she was last seen but this was disproved.

The pair had met at Charlie Chan's nightclub in Walthamstow in January 1992 and began to see each other despite the fact Doherty had a wife and three children. It was a turbulent relationship, peppered with break-ups and physical violence and Doherty was obsessive and controlling.

On June 14, 1995 he booked a last-minute holiday to Florida for himself, Jane and her sons.

The following day they went shopping in Wood Green to buy clothes for the holiday and Doherty then claimed to have dropped Jane off close to her mother's address.

He reported her missing on Friday, June 16, 1995.

Her body has never been found but she is presumed murdered.

Train station to reopen

LEA Bridge Station is about to reopen.

Meetings between Waltham Forest Council and Network Rail have resulted in an undertaking to work together to reopen Lea Bridge Station as soon as possible.

"I was delighted with the result of the meeting," said Council Leader Chris Robbins. "Network Rail is extremely positive about reopening this station and we've set in play a good relationship to be able to go forward together to see the station built."

The news of the meeting comes off the back of the Council securing the funding for the project at the end of last year, making a long-sought ambition for the borough a step closer to becoming a reality.

Leyton Gym reopens

LEYTON Gym has re-opened as part of the first phase of Waltham Forest's multi-million pound leisure centre overhaul.

The new facility boasts a 70-station gym, cardio and resistance equipment and a spacious free weights area.

"One of our major pledges is to make Waltham Forest a better place is to give local people access to first-rate leisure opportunities," said Council Leader, Councillor Chris Robbins. "These new facilities have got our plans off to a flying start, and our residents have already been flocking to Leyton Gym to make good on their New Year's resolutions."

The opening is the precursor to a £24million investment in the borough's five leisure centres over the next five years.

track will be totally rebuilt.

The next phase of the wider works will see nearby complementary works to Leyton Leisure Lagoon. The plans include a 25m pool; new water and play features; sauna and steam room and two studios for group exercise.

Author digs deep into Walthamstow history

AN AUTHOR has dug deep into Walthamstow's past in new crime novel.

Set in Walthamstow, the crime novel The Colours of Corruption is set in Victorian London.

Author Jacqueline Jacques was brought up in Walthamstow and says that she feels such an affinity with it that the town features in most of her books.

She said: "My father is a bit of a storyteller himself and told me that in the 1930s a passageway in Walthamstow High Street was used by villains to escape the long arm of the law.

"I figured that if this was true then it must have been in existence for at least as long as the first shops were built. "Reading about the slums and underground passageways in Old Nichol, near Shoreditch, I thought, 'why not?'"

The novel tells the story of Mary and Archie. Mary, a desperately poor cleaner, who is a witness to murder.

Jacqueline drew on her own history for the novel - her grandmother was an attractive char-woman from Walthamstow.

She took up writing early in her career, but raising a family and her teaching prevented her.

It is her first crime novel and combines her love of writing with her other interests: art and social history.

You can find out more about Jacqueline at www.jacquelinejacques.co.uk

Train company says sorry for delays with chocolate treats

TRAIN company c2c handed out 20,000 chocolate treats last Thursday to apologise for service disruptions a week earlier.

Employees dressed up in T-shirts which said 'Sorry for last Thursday' and dished out the chocolates to morning commuters as they travelled from south Essex into London.

The sweets were to apologise for delays caused by a broken down train at 8am on Thursday, January 17.

Managing director Julian Drury said: "Last Thursday we fell below our usual high standards. "That's why we wanted to do something, as well as to say sorry to everyone affected, whatever their delay that day – short or long."

SORRY: c2c staff were handing out chocolates to commuters following travel problems the previous week.

Nominate for your community commuter

A LUCKY commuter has the chance to win a free season ticket for themselves and £5,000 for a local charity, from train operator c2c.

The firm has launched its second 'Community Champion' competition, designed to reward a regular passenger for their volunteering efforts in the local community.

The competition is open to nominations for any passenger who volunteers for a local charity or community group.

Managing director Julian Drury said: "c2c have been part of the local community for more than a decade, and we know what an important role volunteers play. That's why we want to reward one of those local champions for their hard work – both as an individual through a free season ticket, and also with some money to help make a difference for their local charity or community group."

To nominate a community champion or to enter yourself, contact c2c.communitychampion@nationalexpress.com with details of the c2c stations they travel between and the nature of their local volunteering work.

A berry broth that may help keep coughs and colds at bay

OUR health expert Lea Stanford has been a complimentary medicine practitioner for 26 years.

She is recognised for her ability to get to the heart of the problem.

Lea listens to your concerns, puts you at ease and offers calm reassurance.

Whether you're a first-time mum with a baby suffering from colic or an elderly patient with painful joints, Lea is able to use her broad and varied field of knowledge to treat not just the symptoms, but the cause.

Refined over many years, her unique back and body treatments have made her popular with dancers, sportsmen and those with dodgy backs, tight necks and aches and pains.

She is a clinical iridologist, holistic practitioner, aroma therapist and regular health feature writer.

MY NAN used to make a winter tonic when we were kids. She made it from berries, telling me and my brothers it would keep us hale and hearty. Do you know if this really worked and what did she make it from?

Bren Barclay, Buckhurst Hill.

THERE are several berry tonics that I can think of, these can be made from elderberries, blackberries, and gooseberries, in fact most fruits and berries have some medicinal, health-giving properties. Of the berries, the one that you may still find at this time of the year growing in the wild - if they have not all been eaten by birds and mice - are rose hips. Most of them will be, by now, quite mushy, but don't let this put you off from picking them.

Though they're easier to remove from bushes when firmer, after a frost or two the hip's fruit cells release their 'goodness' more easily. The forest, hedgerows and around the borders of the local golf course are perfect places to find these bright orange-red, hips. These are the fruits, the seed cases, which the wild roses have produced after the blossom has fallen. Birds and field mice love them.

We know that they are rich in vitamin C as well as the bioflavonoids: Rutin and Hesperidin and other wondrous goodies. These little nuggets of wonder certainly do help ward off coughs and colds, and when taken regularly, help to improve overall immune response and it's said to ease the pain of arthritis.

Here's how: one kilo of hips, two litres water, one kilo sugar.

Give the hips a quick rinse under running water, don't be too finicky. Using a very large pan, add rose hips, (leave the little tufty ends on and don't worry about the stalks either) and pour in boiling water. For every kilo of hips use about two litres of water.

Bring back to the boil, then simmer over lowest heat possible for at least 45 minutes to an hour, until the hips are falling apart. Use a large spoon or potato masher to crush further.

Pour slightly cooled liquid into a sieve or muslin cloth, (I've even used old nylon tights) to catch the seeds; try to get as much juice out as possible. Return pulp to the pan and add a further litre of water. Repeat the process, though simmer for a shorter time.

If there still appears to be plenty of pulpy goodness, repeat one more time. Now, pour all the liquid back in the pan, adding a kilo of sugar (500gms if you prefer) for every litre of the liquid. Bring mixture back to the boil. Ta da, done.

Now all that's left is to bottle it. Sterilised jam jars, are fine. A dessert spoon per day will do the job.

Some recipes suggest chopping up in a processor. Though quicker, letting the hips release their nectar slowly is the best.

PEBBLES is looking for a permanent loving home.

The cat was found wandering the streets of Harold Hill last year and taken to the RSPCA in Chippenham Road, Harold Hill. Maddie Collier, branch trustee said: "One of our foster carers has looking after her since June."

"We need to find her a home soon though."

Pebbles needs to be re-housed in a home without other animals or children.

She will have her collar taken off next week.

If you can give Pebbles a home call 01708 381822.

RSPCA clinic puts out call for volunteers to help them

A LOCAL animal charity desperately needs volunteers at its branch in Harold Hill.

The RSPCA's Campbell Clinic, in Chippenham Road, receives no funding from the charity's headquarters and relies entirely on volunteers to keep going.

Maddie Collier, clinic manager, said: "The support of the community is vital to the survival of the branch and the continued work we do."

"We rely heavily upon the generosity of individuals, companies and groups to enable us to provide the car and support needed for local animals.

"We are a self-funding which means we get no money from national headquarters or lottery funding and none of us gets a salary."

The Campbell Clinic provides discounted veterinary care to people on benefits or state pensions. It is a low cost scheme, where prices are kept as low as possible.

If you can spare a couple of hours call Maddie on 07825 795845 or the branch on 01708 381822.

If you are concerned about the welfare of an animal call 0300 1234 999.

International futsal set for Barking visit

Futsal

FANS will have the chance to see top-class futsal action as Barking hosts two England international matches.

The Three Lions will face Turkey next month at the SportHouse in a double header on Friday, February 8 and Saturday, February 9.

Futsal is a variant of football that is played on a smaller pitch and main played indoors between two teams of five players, one of whom is the goalkeeper.

Essex County FA Football development officer, Nick Emery, will be among the interested spectators.

He said: "The recent Futsal World Cup definitely got a few people talking, and it's further helped to raise people's awareness. With these England Internationals scheduled, and more local opportunities to play, we're hoping the matches excite the spectators and leave a legacy so we'll continue to see a steady growth in Futsal locally."

Emery, who operates in the Barking and Dagenham, Havering, Newham, Redbridge and Waltham Forest areas, has been heavily involved in the progression of Futsal in Essex as the only small-sided format officially recognised by both UEFA and FIFA.

SportHouse, a new indoor venue based at Mayesbrook Park in Lodge Avenue, has also been key in its local emergence, hosting an FA Futsal Fives League since November.

Futsal is relatively new to England, being supported by the FA since 2004, but it's widely played across the globe.

The nature of the game places a large emphasis on technical skill and ability in situations of high pressure, and it's subsequently an excellent breeding ground for competencies which can be translated into the 11-a-side format.

"A lot of our foreign imports into the English game have grown up playing Futsal, certainly from the Spanish League," Nick continued.

"This is the second international meeting for our county in the space of a year, and we're hoping it'll inspire the local community to play. Some local clubs, such as Euro Dagenham, are using Futsal as a youth development tool, and we'd like more youth clubs to follow suit and discover the benefits."

Tickets for the internationals are on sale priced £3 for adults and £1.50 for under 16s.

Visit the website at <http://buytickets.at/themediagroup>, and booking information can also be obtained from the Media Group on 0115 969 4615 or via e-mail at futsal@themediagroup.tv

To find out more about local opportunities to play Futsal, call Nick Emery on 01245 393077, e-mail nick.emery@essexfa.com or visit www.essexfa.com

Rugby Union

Barking brushed aside by Hartpury

BARKING suffered disappointment in National Two South as they lost 12-45 to Hartpury College on Saturday.

A poor first half performance put paid to any hopes Barking had to build on the victory against Chinnor in their previous fixture.

However, they found themselves 33-0 behind at the Goresbrook as Hartpury, who are at the sharp end of the division, took charge.

Two tries inside the first five minutes from James Head and Billy Burns put Hartpury ahead with Craig Jackson kicking one conversion for 12-0.

It was not even 10 minutes before Hartpury were 19-0 as Ian Clark went over the line, with Jackson kicking the extras.

Jackson added to the score with a try of his own on 20 minutes which he converted, and he kicked more points after George Mills touched the ball down after 25 minutes to make it 33-0, which it stayed until half-time.

Hartpury continued where they left off in the second half with Burns and Clark grabbing their second tries of the afternoon.

However, Barking finally picked themselves up and made a game of it, and got on the scoresheet just before the hour mark, Clifford Basson-Street going over, converted by Oliver Forrest.

Scott Shaw added another try on 64 minutes as Barking reduced the arrears to 12-45, but the result leaves them 16 points from safety.

In National Three London & South East, Westcliff boosted their relegation battle with a 19-38 victory over bottom side Staines.

Westcliff were 35-0 up by 50 minutes thanks to a dominant first half showing.

Hayden Whelan and Greg Bannister scored two tries each, and Ben McKeith with one of his own as Westcliff dominated the first 50 minutes before Staines fought back with three tries and two conversions.

However, McKeith was also on target with five conversions and one penalty as Westcliff ended a run of 10 straight defeats and now four points from safety.

With many fixtures falling victim to the weather, Eton Manor took advantage in London One North to beat Luton 30-7.

The victory helped Manor improve their chances of securing a play-off place as the win puts them six points clear of Letchworth Garden City who have a game in hand.

Only one game escaped the weather in London Three North East and there was nothing which could separate Upminster and Cantabrigian, who drew 24-24.

The result moved Upminster level on points with Wanstead and Norwich in second and third respectively, and four points behind leaders South Woodham Ferrers.

Essex One: Clacton 19-0 Bancroft, Maldon 31-0 Millwall.

Essex Two: Ilford Wanderers 17-24 Pegasus Palmerians, May & Baker 20-15 Stanford Le Hope.

IMPROVING Leyton Orient are now unbeaten three games after being held to a goalless draw on Tuesday night by Paolo Di Canio's fourth-placed Swindon Town.

Manager, Russell Slade, named an unchanged eleven after Saturday's fine win against Notts County, whilst the visitors were fresh from having the weekend off where their game at league leaders, Tranmere, had been called off.

Blustery conditions played its part, although O's had the best chance of the first half, with Charlie McDonald shooting tamely into the side netting with only Wes Foderingham to beat.

After the break, Swindon's Andy Williams wasted the best chance of the match, hitting a post from close range.

In what had been a very even encounter, it would have probably been rough justice on Swindon had Jimmy Smith won it two minutes from time, when Moses Odubajo headed down for the schemer to drill goalwards, only for Foderingham to pull off a fine, diving save.

Slade said: "Nobody played for a draw this evening; I thought the conditions were probably the winner in the end to be honest and we shared the points, Their keeper made a really, really good save from what was the opportunity to win the game, but he kept it at nil-nil unfortunately.

Cuthbert said: "We have been playing very well, especially as a unit in the last week and it's nice to pick up points – especially against the top teams."

■ O's travel to Stevenage this Saturday (kick-off 3pm) and entertain Southend United in the Johnstone's Paint Trophy Southern Area Final next Tuesday (kick-off 7.45pm).

Daggers hit by late double salvo

Dagenham & Redbridge

TWO goals in two minutes saw Dagenham & Redbridge lose 2-1 at home to Morecombe in League Two on Saturday.

After a goalless first half, Luke Wilkinson headed Daggers ahead just after the hour mark from Matt Saunders' cross.

However a double substitution from Shrimps manager Jim Bentley proved crucial in his side's win.

Sub Jack Redshaw produced a fine pass for Stewart Drummond to equalise on 81 minutes while their recent new signing Ryan Williams came off the bench to score the winner two minutes later.

It was a tough defeat for Daggers to take as they lost ground in their play-off chase, and have played the most games out of all the teams in the division.

Daggers boss John Still said: "It was a poor game I have to admit and it never really got going – even after we took the lead.

"If I'm being honest, I didn't think we played well enough to win the game but I am obviously disappointed that we didn't get a point after going into the last 10 minutes in the lead.

"We didn't produce enough opportunities to get a second goal and when you do that you are always vulnerable and that is what happened in the end. We will have to take it on the chin and work hard in the week because we have another important game against Plymouth next week that we have to prepare for."

City back on track while convincing wins for Canvey and Concord

Non League Football

CHELMSFORD City got back to winning ways in Blue Square South on Saturday with a 2-1 victory at bottom club Truro City.

After a goalless first half, the Clarets took the lead on 54 minutes through Jamie Slabber before Kyle Vassell doubled their lead in the 69th minute.

Joe Broad pulled a goal back for Truro in the 90th minute but it proved just a consolation as City moved back into a play-off place.

AFC Hornchurch kept themselves clear of the relegation zone with a 1-1 draw at home with Tonbridge Angels.

Frannie Collins opened the scoring for Angels on 63 minutes but Lewis Smith (74) earned a point for the Urchins.

Billerica Town's match at home with Sutton United was called off due to a waterlogged pitch.

In Ryman League Premier, Canvey Island moved into third place with a 3-0 home win over struggling Harrow Borough.

The Gulls scored three times in the last 25 minutes through Bradley Woods-Garness, Rob King and Jay Curran.

Only one goal separates Canvey and near neighbours Concord Rangers, although the latter have two games in hand.

They won 4-0 at Bury Town with Harry Elmes firing in a hat-trick and Jason Hallett also getting on the scoresheet.

The match ended on a sour note as Bury's John Kennedy and Luke Ingram, plus Concord's Steve King saw red.

East Thurrock and Thurrock's matches at Margate and Hendon respectively were called off.

Two goals by Jacob Cleaver stunned Ryman North leaders Maldon & Tiptree as Redbridge fought back to draw 2-2.

Lee Boylan opened his account for Maldon in the 62nd minute and James Robinson scored against his old club with 15 minutes to go.

But the struggling Motormen had other ideas as Cleaver scored the double with five minutes remaining to lift them up to 20th place.

Fourth placed Aveley won 3-1 over relegation battlers Ware.

Jordan Cox put Millers ahead after 19 minutes with a header, and a deflected shot by Rashid Kamara doubled the lead before the break.

Cox grabbed his second and Aveley's third in the 54th minute, and Ware had Mark Standen sent off before Tim Shaw scored their consolation late on.
